

INTEREST ONLY LOAN CALCULATOR

PRIVACY POLICY

GasStationForSale.ca | Effective October 2026

This Calculator Privacy Policy explains how the Interest Only Loan Calculator on GasStationForSale.ca handles information entered into the calculator, including the optional browser-saving feature. It is intended to supplement the website's general privacy practices.

PRIVACY AT A GLANCE: Saving calculator information is optional. The default setting is No - Do not save. If you choose Yes - Save in this browser, calculator information may be stored locally in that browser on that device for future reuse. We recommend not saving calculator information on a shared or public device.

1. SCOPE OF THIS POLICY

This policy applies specifically to information entered into the Interest Only Loan Calculator and the calculator's optional browser-storage feature. Other website functions, analytics, security tools, contact forms, cookies or third-party services may be governed by the general privacy policy and the privacy practices of the applicable service providers.

2. INFORMATION YOU MAY ENTER

Depending on how you use the calculator, information may include a property address, payment payee, loan amount, interest rate, loan term, payment dates, principal-payment options, sender information, buyer or seller names, agreement information and other details needed to create a loan summary or payment schedule. You should avoid entering information that is not necessary for the calculation.

3. DEFAULT SETTING - DO NOT SAVE

For a new user, the calculator is designed to default to No - Do not save. When this option is selected, the calculator is designed not to intentionally store calculator information in browser storage for future reuse. Information may remain visible during the current browser session until the page is refreshed, closed or otherwise cleared by the browser.

4. OPTIONAL BROWSER STORAGE

If you actively select Yes - Save in this browser, calculator information may be stored locally in the browser on that device so that you can return later and reuse or recreate the calculation. This browser-storage feature is designed for convenience and is not intended to function as cloud, server or account-based storage.

5. SERVER STORAGE

The calculator's optional browser-saving feature is designed so that calculator information saved for future reuse is stored locally in the browser rather than intentionally transmitted to the website hosting server solely for that saving function. This statement does not mean that the website as a whole uses no server logs, security systems, analytics, cookies or other standard website technologies.

6. SHARED OR PUBLIC DEVICES

Do not select Yes - Save in this browser when using a shared or public computer or device if the calculator contains confidential, personal or commercially sensitive information. Other people with access to the same browser profile may be able to view locally stored information.

7. CLEARING SAVED INFORMATION

Where available, use the calculator's Reset / Clear Saved Information or similar control to remove calculator information saved by the calculator. Browser-stored information may also be removed when browser or site data is cleared, when private browsing is used, or because of browser settings, storage limits or security software.

8. PRINTED, DOWNLOADED OR SHARED DOCUMENTS

If you print, save, download, email or otherwise share a payment schedule, that document is no longer controlled by the calculator's browser-storage setting. The person who downloads, stores or shares the document is responsible for its security and distribution.

9. DATA MINIMIZATION AND SENSITIVE INFORMATION

Enter only the information reasonably required for the calculation or schedule you are preparing. Financial information can be sensitive. Avoid entering unnecessary account numbers, passwords, government identification numbers or other highly sensitive information into the calculator.

10. SECURITY AND LIMITATIONS

Reasonable care is taken in designing the calculator, but no browser, device or website can be guaranteed to be completely secure. The security of locally stored information also depends on the user's device, browser profile, operating system, passwords and physical access controls.

11. CANADIAN PRIVACY PRINCIPLES

Canadian private-sector privacy requirements may apply depending on the organization, activity and information involved. The Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada identifies principles such as accountability, identifying purposes, consent, limiting collection, limiting use and retention, safeguards and openness. This policy is intended to provide clear information and user choice regarding the calculator's optional browser-storage feature; it is not legal advice or a representation that a particular privacy law applies to every use of the calculator.

12. CHANGES TO THIS POLICY

This policy may be updated when the calculator, browser-storage functionality, website technology or privacy practices change. The current version should be reviewed when using the calculator after a material update.

13. CONTACT AND FURTHER INFORMATION

For information about the calculator or GasStationForSale.ca privacy practices, visit <https://gasstationforsale.ca/>. For general information about Canadian private-sector privacy principles, visit the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada at <https://www.priv.gc.ca/>.

IMPORTANT: This document provides general information about the calculator's privacy and browser-storage features. It is not legal advice. GasStationForSale.ca should have the final policy reviewed against the website's actual technical setup and applicable privacy obligations.

Calculator page: <https://gasstationforsale.ca/interest-only-loan-payment-calculator/>